

Given a list of integers and a user entered number, print all the subsets of the list containing numbers that add up to the user entered number.