

You are given two jugs with capacities x and y liters. There is an infinite amount of water supply. The goal is to measure exactly z liters using these two jugs. Determine whether it is possible to measure z liters and, if possible, provide the number of times jugs x and y will have to be filled.